

Get RHEL Value out of Your Hybrid Cloud

Hybrid cloud promises modern business increased flexibility, scalability, and security across your environments — bare metal servers, virtual machines, containers, private clouds, and public clouds. Great!

It can also introduce a variety of unique challenges and have you questioning its investment potential.

Roadblocks to hybrid cloud success

Increased complexity, resulting in inconsistencies, security risks, and management difficulties.

Inconsistent deployment environments, creating migration and deployment obstacles.

Difficulty managing subscriptions, complicating financial processes and decreasing ROI.

Greater security risks, making it more difficult to maintain compliance with industry regulations.

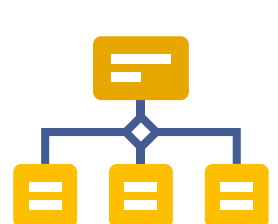

Inability to properly scale, resulting in increased downtime and poor application performance.

An open approach to hybrid cloud

ATS Group and Red Hat have an open hybrid cloud strategy that enables you to run your applications across environments without having to rebuild applications, retrain people, or maintain disparate environments.

Consistent. Intelligent. High-Performance.

Red Hat® Enterprise Linux® (RHEL) delivers a consistent, intelligent, and high-performance operating foundation, integrated with the broader Red Hat portfolio, to reduce overall IT complexity and support the migration of applications to different cloud environments.

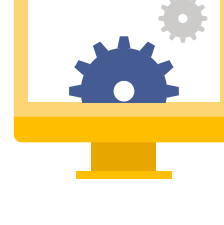

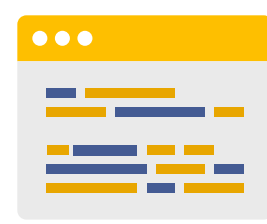

Red Hat Enterprise Linux

An open-source operating system (OS) and the foundation of your enterprise hybrid cloud enables you to secure, scale, and manage across multiple environments.

Red Hat OpenShift

An open-source, hybrid Platform as a Service for Kubernetes container-based application development makes it easy to develop, deploy, and manage any application, in any environment.

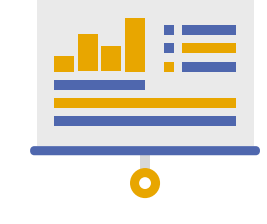

Red Hat Ansible

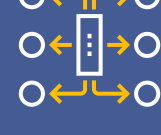

An open-source software provisioning, configuration management, and application-deployment tool that empowers infrastructure and security automation.

Red Hat Insights (Included in RHEL Subscription)

A predictive IT analytics and remediation tool for system-level insights across hybrid cloud and on-premises infrastructures that proactively manage security, compliance, and operational risk.

With RHEL, you can:

Decrease overall IT complexity so you can focus more on business

Ensure consistent deployments across your infrastructure

Reduce cloud deployment costs and increase tech ROI

Provide continuous security to ensure regulatory compliance

Enhance the scalability of your applications, services, and business

Red Hat solutions value*

573%

Three-year ROI

Red Hat

6

Months to payback

32%

More efficient IT infrastructure teams

65%

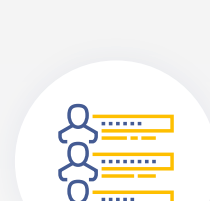

Faster to identify security risks

81%

Less unplanned downtime

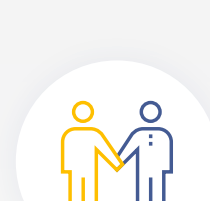

Not your average technology solution provider

ATS isn't just another technology company. We're a team of dedicated, knowledgeable, and skilled professionals ready to assist you with your day-to-day technology needs, as well as empower your strategic technology journey.

Deep skill set

Our team of engineers is highly skilled in current and legacy platforms, supporting what most providers can't — or won't.

Unrelenting support

With the other guys, you're on your own to figure it out. With ATS you receive personalized, dedicated support through each step of the process.

Ultimate flexibility

Cookie-cutter services just isn't our thing. We work with you to build a custom solution tailored to your individual needs.

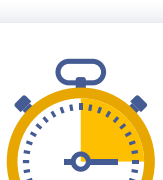

What ATS customers have to say

"ATS has been the most responsive vendor I have ever dealt with in almost 40 years of working in IT. Their staff is highly knowledgeable, customer-oriented, and very proactive."

"We have a solid track record of successfully completed projects with ATS because their team plans the work and works the plan."

"ATS support is top-notch, with quick responses to our questions or problems."

Get more out of your IT investment

Learn how ATS and Red Hat can help you blend new cloud options with your on-prem and other cloud infrastructures, so you can get more out of your original investment and your new tech going forward.

Reach out to schedule a Discovery Call with one of our experts!

1.855.465.6858

info@theatsgroup.com

